

Ike Advisers Urge UMT, But Congressmen Show Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP)—Most members of Congress who expressed themselves today on a presidential commission's recommendation for a military manpower policy recoiled from its central idea: Universal Military Training for youths not drafted.

The National Security Training Commission said yesterday in a special report to President Eisenhower that UMT could be put into effect by January 1955, or earlier, operating simultaneously with the draft. The plan would require congressional approval.

The commission proposed a lottery to determine whether a youth would get six months training or be required to serve two years as a draftee.

The group said the program, while not achieving absolute equality, at least would avoid what it called the present unfair situation in which veterans are the only reservists available to be called up in a sudden war emergency.

Under the proposed UMT program, the trainees would be called ahead of veterans.

The commission contended its program also might save money by permitting a reduction in the regular military forces, and might help deter war by setting up a steady program of long-term preparedness.

However, the arguments apparently made little impression on most members of Congress available in Washington for comment.

House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. said flatly, "I don't think the program would have much chance." He added that "Congress has already said the draft and UMT should not operate concurrently."

Rep. Short (R-Mo), chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, which would have to act on a UMT bill, declared, "I am opposed to UMT. It won't work."

Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee and a member of the House Armed Services Committee, commented that with the increasing emphasis on atomic weapons "the need for large numbers of men in uniform is considerably lessened."

Cole, who has supported UMT in the past, said he did not think Congress would pass it and that he might oppose it now.

Rep. Allen (R-Ill), chairman of GOP whip, said the draft and UMT cannot operate simultaneously.

Rep. Allen (R-Ill), chairman of the key House Rules Committee, said, "I've always been against it and still am."

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-

Colo.) said, "I'm very much opposed to UMT. I don't think it can operate with the draft at all."

Sen. Duff (R-Pa), however, said he is "in complete accord" with the commission report. He said it "imposes an obligation upon all citizens of military age, it distributes the burden in a fair way" and makes possible an effective reserve without the expense of big standing forces.

Some lawmakers who have favored UMT were not in Washington. However, others said privately they fear the 1954 session is the wrong time to bring it up. They pointed out that it is an election year and the legislative program already is crowded.

After the Korean truce was signed, President Eisenhower asked the commission to take a look at "inequities" in the method by which military reserves are set up and other manpower problems.

The commission's report made public yesterday was in response to this request.

Commission members who talked with the President yesterday said he did not indicate whether he would include a UMT bill in his 1954 legislative recommendations.

The group recommended that UMT start by January 1955, or earlier, with training of 100,000 18-year-olds for a six-month period.

The trainees would have a 7½-year reserve obligation after their training ends, and would go into the ready reserve, the first to be called up in an emergency.

Second U. S. Woman To Plead With POW

TOKYO (AP)—The sister of an American war prisoner who chose communism prepared today to fly to Tokyo, where the mother of another unrepatriated American waited on the slim chance that she would get to see her son.

Myrtle Elaine Wilson of Urania, La., sent a radio message saying she was coming to Japan in hopes of seeing her brother, Cpl. Aaron Wilson, one of 22 Americans who fled with the Communists.

The message was addressed to Mrs. Portia Howe of Alden, Minn., who flew here last week hoping to see and persuade her son, Pfc. Richard Tenneson, to come home.

There was no sign that the U. S. Defense Department has modified its ban on trips to Korea by relatives of the unrepatriated American prisoners.

Miss Wilson asked Mrs. Howe to send the following message to her brother:

"Hi Aaron, I'm coming to Japan in hopes that I can see you. I'll send you another message when I get in Japan. Please ask permission to see me. Mom and Dad are not able to make the trip. Both are in bad health. Please do as I say just once as I want to see you again. I'm praying for you.

(signed) "Myrtle Elaine."

Miss Wilson did not say when she expected to arrive.

Mrs. Howe said tonight, "I have decided to stay in Tokyo until the last possible chance for my son to come home has gone." She added however she has given up hope of going to Korea.

She had reservations on a Northwest Airlines plane for both Wednesday and Saturday but said she had decided to cancel them because she wanted to wait until the expiration of the explanations period Dec. 23. Prisoners who have not returned home by then will not be repatriated, according to terms of the armistice.

In Pannunjom, Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya said today Indian troops will not retain custody of war prisoners who have refused to go home after Jan. 22, clearing the way for their release as civilians.

The Korean armistice provides unrepatriated prisoners are to be released 120 days after they were turned over to Indian custody—or Jan. 22. The Communists, however, have argued the prisoners should be held in Korea's neutral zone until a peace conference decides their fate.

Thimayya said Indian troops would have to have approval of both the Communists and the Allies to keep custody of the prisoners after the Jan. 22 deadline.

Thimayya is chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission which supervises the almost 23,000 Chinese, Korean, American and British POWs who have refused repatriation.

"I have decided to stay until everything is finished," Mrs. Howe said. "I know that the hope of seeing my son is a very slim one, but still I cannot go back now."

"I don't feel my trip is a failure. I'm not going to give up. The whole object of my trip was to come out to try to help my son—believing that I was following directions of God. But if I stop short of the last possible minute, I have failed."

U. S. Envoy Shuns Red Parley Call

Dean Heads For Home As Enemy Repeats Insult Against America

TOKYO (AP)—U. S. envoy Arthur H. Dean arrived here today en route to Washington after bluntly rejecting a Communist proposal for immediate resumption of negotiations to set up a Korean peace conference.

The State Department envoy who for seven weeks wrangled with the Red diplomats at Pannunjom said he won't return to the conference table unless the Communists retract charges that the United States connived with South Korea to release 27,000 anti-Red war prisoners last June.

A Communist note delivered early Tuesday suggested immediate resumption of negotiations, but an Allied spokesman said the note also repeated "the Red charge of perfidy."

It drew a prompt rejection.

"I shall not be with you at any time until you make an appropriate retraction or correction of this insult in a manner satisfactory to my government," Dean replied.

He will leave Wednesday for Washington to report to the State Department and officials of 15 other United Nations which fought in Korea.

and intentionally wrecked" the explanation program because "so few of their soldiers came home."

The U. S. State Department called in ambassadors representing its Korean War allies yesterday for a briefing on why the talks were suspended.

U. S. officials told the envoys Dean suspended the talks, but did not break them off entirely, until the Reds withdraw the perfidy charges and show a willingness to negotiate in good faith.

THE SEVEN CZECHS who fled their Communist governed country in a home made tank are shown with Cardinal Spellman in New York. They are in the U. S. on a six-month visitors visa and will tour the nation to help the Radio Free Europe fund drive. From left: Vaglav Krejcirik, 42, and Walter Nora, 35, both of whom deserted the Czech army; Joseph Pisarek, 24, who helped to build the "tank"; Spellman; Vaglav Uhlik, 32, and wife Margaret, 30, with children Vaglav, Jr., 6, and Eva, 4. Uhlik engineered the escape.

Prisoner Talks Remain Stalled

22 Americans Refuse To Hear Interviews

PANNUNJOM (AP)—Allied efforts to win back American war prisoners who stayed with the Communists remained stalled today as the POWs spurned a personal appeal from the chairman of the Korean repatriation commission to attend interviews.

There was mounting speculation that none of the 22 Americans and 1 Briton would appear for explanations before the 90-day period for interviews expires Dec. 23.

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya talked for 90 minutes with two prisoners identified as leaders in the compound—U. S. Sgt. R. G. Gordon of East Providence, R. I., and British Marine Andrew Condron.

An Indian spokesman said the two leaders were unmoved after their private conference with Thimayya in a Korean hut outside the barbed wire compound where they are held by the commission.

The POW spokesmen said the Americans and Briton would not come out for face-to-face talks with American explainers until the commission settled a dispute with pro-Communist South Korean prisoners who also refuse to attend explanations.

THIMAYYA said earlier he personally felt the Americans simply did not want to attend the explanations. He called some of their reasons or stalling absurd.

Thimayya speculated that the new turn of events might end all chance that the Americans would attend any explanations.

The U. N. Command said today it was ready to interview any prisoner of any nationality who would come out tomorrow. It has yet to win over one prisoner from communism.

Crites Says Budget Commission Failed To Raise Ante For City

Coming out of the city's meeting with the budget commission Tuesday morning, Chairman George Crites of City Council's finance committee shook his head slowly and said "they didn't raise the ante."

"They" were the members of the commission who had just gone through the annual session of telling the city how much it can expect to operate on through 1954. Crites had expressed the hope they would boost the "ante" to help municipal Circleville pull out of its various financial problems.

The commission is composed of Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer, County Auditor Fred Patton and County Treasurer Bob Colville. It was the first of a series of budget hearings which will continue in Pickaway county court-house through Thursday.

Crites had been especially anxious to have the county grant "something a little extra" for 1954 to help meet a pay-raise-or-quit ultimatum issued by six city policemen. The finance committee head pointed out an increase for city police would involve a similar pay boost for city firemen. But he was far from optimistic when he came out of Tuesday's hearing.

Father Holds Sons Hostage During Dispute

COLUMBUS (AP)—A 28-year-old father who held two small sons as hostages and barricaded himself in a house trailer more than 16 hours was captured today by police.

Neither child was hurt.

Charles McLaughlin, employee of a Columbus paper firm, was routed from the trailer by tear gas.

Their father's arrest ended a night of terror for Charles Ivan McLaughlin, 7, and his 6-year-old brother, Ronald Lee.

Deputies said three shots were fired during their night-long vigil outside the trailer. They said McLaughlin fired at them once when they attempted to advance on the trailer. Two other shots were heard inside the trailer.

McLaughlin grabbed the boys when he learned his wife wanted to have him arrested for assault and battery. During the siege, deputies said McLaughlin yelled:

"I got a dirty deal from the law three years ago and I'd get one now. Don't come in—I've got a gun at the kids' heads."

Shortly after daybreak this morning, McLaughlin released one of his sons with this instruction: "Go get your mother."

The tear-gas barrage followed. McLaughlin was seized as he staggered blindly from the trailer.

Deputies charged him with assault and battery, assault with a deadly weapon and shooting with intent to wound.

Wintery Blast Hits Eastern Third Of U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—Wintery weather hit wide areas of the eastern third of the nation today.

Snow or rain fell from Lake Michigan to the east coast with heavy falls of snow over the Ohio Valley.

The coldest weather of the season chilled the central part of the country. It was 5 degrees below zero in International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border. Temperatures were in the 20s in parts of Kentucky and Tennessee. Colder weather appeared in prospect for the mid-continent tonight.

The mid-December snowstorm extended as far as southern Kentucky, with Corbin reporting a fall of 2 inches. Largest amount was reported by Akron, Ohio, with 5 inches. The snow extended into New Hampshire, Maine and parts of New York State.

Rain ended along the Eastern seaboard after heavy falls yesterday from North Carolina northward to southern New England. New York City's rainfall measured nearly 2 inches.

Another batch of snow and cold air headed for the Midwest with falls today in the eastern Dakotas and Minnesota. Most readings today in the Mississippi Valley as far south as St. Louis were in the teens and lower. Duluth, Minn., reported 2. Chicago had the coldest day of the season with a low of 15.

Watt St. Sewer Now Ahead Of Fairview Job

With completion estimated to be only "about a week of good weather" away, the Watt St. sewer job Tuesday had pulled well ahead of another project cleared by City Council at the same time—the sewer planned on Fairview Ave.

The explanation rests chiefly in the fact that the city's note on the Watt St. job was sold with comparative ease, while the same transaction to help finance the Fairview Ave. work has yet to be completed. There was no indication how soon the second note also will be sold.

City Engineer Harry Griner said Monday he believes work on the Watt St. sewer can "be finished as soon as we get about a week of good weather." He added he has no information on when the Fairview Ave. work will start.

It was felt for a time that the city could "buy its own notes" on both jobs and draw the ready cash from the municipal sinking fund. Later, however, City Auditor Lillian Young announced only one of the notes could be taken at this time—and the note covering the Watt St. work was selected.

Both projects are to be financed chiefly by the assessment method, property owners paying according to individual benefits to repay the loan over a period of years. Amount of the assessment in any individual case can be determined by contacting Clerk of City Council Fred Nicholas.

Defense Agencies Get $268 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of Defense had another $268,692,130 to carry on its military construction program today in the absence of protests by the senate Appropriations Committee.

The funds were part of $368,530,800 frozen by Congress in the last session because they were not spent in the period for which they had been appropriated.

Of the sum, the Department of the Army received $43,181,500, the Navy $68,945,630 and the Air Force $156,565,000.

Details of the projects involved were not disclosed.

The funds allocated included: Camp Perry, Ohio, $254,000.

Miss Wilson did not say when she expected to arrive.

She had reservations on a Northwest Airlines plane for both Wednesday and Saturday but said she had decided to cancel them because she wanted to wait until the expiration of the explanations period Dec. 23. Crites Says Budget Commission Failed To 'Raise Ante' For City

Coming out of the city's meeting with the budget commission Tuesday morning, Chairman George Crites of City Council's finance committee shook his head slowly and said "they didn't raise the ante."

"They" were the members of the commission who had just gone through the annual session of telling the city how much it can expect to operate on through 1954. Crites had expressed the hope they would boost the "ante" to help municipal Circleville pull out of its various financial problems.

The finance committee head pointed out an increase for city police would involve a similar pay boost for city firemen. But he was far from optimistic when he came out of Tuesday's hearing.

HE SAID the budget commission was unable to promise the city anything substantial in the way of increased allocation for next year's operations.

"As I figure it," he said, "we'll get just about the same as we got for 1953. Maybe a little more in the way of tax funds that can't be used as basis for solid figuring, but nothing like what we wanted. They just didn't raise the ante—maybe because everybody gets in before the city and then we have to take what's left."

"I'm sorry to say there aren't any good surprises to announce. As far as the budget hearing is concerned, there's no good news for the city of Circleville."

Crites' announcement appeared to pack added tension into the explosive police pay issue. It may turn out to be the hottest of several warm questions looming for Council's regular meeting Tuesday night—the last regular session for 1953.

Notified of the news from the budget hearing, members of the police department said they "don't intend to compromise" on their demands for a "substantial" pay hike. They indicated a pay scale outlined Monday as tentative will be handed to the lawmakers Tuesday as the target held in mind.

Dean Heads For Home As Enemy Repeats Insult Against America

TOKYO (AP)—U. S. envoy Arthur H. Dean arrived here today en route to Washington after bluntly rejecting a Communist proposal for immediate resumption of negotiations to set up a Korean peace conference.

The State Department envoy who for seven weeks wrangled with the Red diplomats at Panmunjom said he won't return to the conference table unless the Communists retract charges that the United States connived with South Korea to release 27,000 anti-Red war prisoners last June.

He will leave Wednesday for Washington to report to the State Department and officials of 15 other United Nations which fought in Korea.

DEAN, ON his arrival in Tokyo, said the Communists "are deliberately stalling" the negotiations "because they do not dare to have the subject of the nonrepatriated prisoners aired" at the long-delayed peace conference.

He was referring to the 22,000 anti-Communist North Korean and Chinese prisoners who overwhelmingly have rejected opportunities to return home during explanations.

The Reds, he said, "knowingly and intentionally wrecked" the explanation program because "so few of their soldiers came home."

The U. S. State Department called in ambassadors representing its Korean War allies yesterday for a briefing on why the talks were suspended.

U. S. officials told the envoys Dean suspended the talks, but did not break them off entirely, until the Reds withdraw the perfidy charges and show a willingness to negotiate in good faith.

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya talked for 90 minutes with two prisoners identified as leaders in the compound—U. S. Sgt. R. G. Corden of East Providence, R. I., and British Marine Andrew Condron.

An Indian spokesman said the two leaders were unmoved after their private conference with Thimayya in a Korean hut outside the barbed wire compound where they are held by the commission.

The POW spokesmen said the Americans and Briton would not come out for face-to-face talks with American explainers until the commission settled a dispute with pro-Communist South Korean prisoners who also refuse to attend explanations.

Father Holds Sons Hostage During Dispute

COLUMBUS (AP)—A 28-year-old father who held two small sons as hostages and barricaded himself in a house trailer more than 16 hours was captured today by police. Neither child was hurt.

Charles McLaughlin, employee of a Columbus paper firm, was routed from the trailer by tear gas.

Their father's arrest ended a night of terror for Charles Ivan McLaughlin, 7, and his 6-year-old brother, Ronald Lee.

Deputies said three shots were fired during their night-long vigil outside the trailer. They said McLaughlin fired at them once when they attempted to advance on the trailer. Two other shots were heard inside the trailer.

McLaughlin grabbed the boys when he learned his wife wanted to have him arrested for assault and battery. During the siege, deputies said McLaughlin yelled:

"I got a dirty deal from the law three years ago and I'd get one now. Don't come in—I've got a gun at the kids' heads."

Shortly after daybreak this morning, McLaughlin released one of his sons with this instruction: "Go get your mother."

The tear-gas barrage followed. McLaughlin was seized as he staggered blindly from the trailer.

Deputies charged him with assault and battery, assault with a deadly weapon and shooting with intent to wound.

Moves On Annexation Clouded; Legion Gives Approval To Plan

Complicated by opposition from a property owner who had previously signed approval, Circleville's annexation plan Tuesday appeared to be marking time for a possible major change in strategy.

Pickaway County commissioners, who have the plan under study, have delayed their decision on it for two weeks. Postponement was announced Monday after Wayne Martin, a property owner who had signed the original annexation petition, notified the commissioners he is now opposed to the city's plan.

While the plan to take in a large area north of the corporation was already embattled over objections filed by a few other property owners, the opposition of Martin appeared to halt all progress for the time being. His property, about 61 acres, is located just north of the corporation line and hence at the base of the area marked for annexation.

There was no apparent way in which his land could be left out of the city without carving up the section under discussion.

CHAIRMAN Bob Adkins of the city planning and zoning commission said Tuesday he had no further comments on status of the plan. He said only that he was awaiting the return of Attorney Kenneth Robbins, who was out of the city. Robbins represents property owners who favor the annexation.

While the next move by annexation forces was clouded, the city's plan received late but vigorous support from Circleville's American Legion post.

In a letter signed by George Helwagen, commander of Hall-Adkins Post No. 134, the local Legion branch "strongly indorsed" the city's expansion effort. Helwagen wrote:

"We, the members of the American Legion, have always strived to assist in all matters which pertain to the betterment of our community, as is stated in the preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion: 'To inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation.'"

"We feel that it is our obligation to the community to indorse this fine annexation program, which is set up, without a doubt, to better the people and the entire community in our great city."

Wintry Blast Hits Eastern Third Of U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—Wintry weather hit wide areas of the eastern third of the nation today.

Snow or rain fell from Lake Michigan to the east coast with heavy falls of snow over the Ohio Valley.

The coldest weather of the season chilled the central part of the country. It was 5 degrees below zero in International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border. Temperatures were in the 20s in parts of Kentucky and Tennessee. Colder weather appeared in prospect for the mid-continent tonight.

The mid-December snowstorm extended as far as southern Kentucky, with Corbin reporting a fall of 2 inches. Largest amount was reported by Akron, Ohio, with 5 inches. The snow extended into New Hampshire, Maine and parts of New York State.

Rain ended along the Eastern seaboard after heavy falls yesterday from North Carolina northward to southern New England. New York City's rainfall measured nearly 2 inches.

Another batch of snow and cold air headed for the Midwest with falls today in the eastern Dakotas and Minnesota. Most readings to far south as St. Louis were in the teens and lower. Duluth, Minn., reported 2. Chicago had the coldest day of the season with a low of 15.

Action Comes On Heels Of Dulles Warning

14-Nation Council OKs Buildup Despite Angry Raps At U.S. Diplomat

PARIS (AP)—On the heels of a sharp warning from U. S. Secretary of State Dulles of a possible American "reappraisal" of its European policies, the NATO Council of Ministers today voted to boost its warplane and troop strength in 1954.

The council, governing body of the 14-nation Atlantic pact, met as French officials were reported furious over Dulles' statement that a shift in American policies could follow any French failure to ratify the European Army pact soon.

Paris newspapers termed it a "blunt ultimatum."

In London, British newspapers of varying political complexions also blasted Dulles.

In Bonn, however, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party hailed his warning as "logical and natural."

Approval of increased force for the alliance was reported by an American delegate.

A highly informed American military officer said these recommendations included:

1. AN INCREASE in the NATO air force of more than 1,300 warplanes, boosting the alliance's air power to 5,700 planes by the end of 1954.

2. An eight per cent increase in ground forces, bringing NATO's frontline and reserve divisions to 107 by the end of the year.

The delegate said the report ran into no opposition.

Most officials were guarded or refused comment on Dulles' declaration, though Italian Premier Giuseppe Pella termed it "a very courageous statement." Dutch Foreign Minister (Continued on Page Two)

Jury Convicts Medic Of Perjury

CLEVELAND (AP)—A doctor, convicted of giving false alibi testimony in the trial of a bank robber, was fined $500 yesterday and sentenced to 18 months in jail.

A common pleas court jury had convicted Dr. Alexander V. Spaeth, 52, of perjury in the trial of Joseph Sanzo, convicted of stealing $71,000 in bank funds in Warren on Aug. 14, 1952.

The physician presented a medical treatment card to support his testimony that Sanzo was treated in his office on the day of the robbery. The prosecution contended the original date on the card had been erased and Aug. 14 inserted.

Deluge Of Yule Mail Beginning To Pour Into City's Postoffice

Circleville's postal workers Tuesday were beginning to feel the impact of a deluge of mail as the 1953 Christmas card mailing season got underway.

According to all indications, this will be another record Yule mailing season for the city's postoffice.

So far, six clerks have been employed inside the postoffice here to handle the increasing flow of mail, and within a few days there will be 10 extra carriers on the routes in the city to deliver letters and parcels.

Early tabulations to date indicate this year's Yule mail will be larger than that of last year, which was a record year.

FROM DEC. 10 through Dec. 14 this year, the local postal workers have handled 55,745 pieces of mail. During a corresponding period last year, workers had handled only 43,518 pieces. Last year's record Christmas mail total from Dec. 1 through Dec. 23 amounted to 337,879 pieces of mail, counting all mail except parcel post.

In view of the huge task of sorting and handling the record mail expected this year, local residents have been asked to give a hand in the job.

Of foremost importance is the manner in which letters are addressed.

"You'd be surprised how many thousands of letters come in here with only the person's name and the name of the street on the envelopes," Assistant Postmaster Leon VanVliet said.

"What people don't realize is that, during Christmas time, several different carriers are assigned to sections of each street and the letter may not get into the right place."

Persons depositing mail at the Circleville postoffice also can help by separating their mail into two bundles—one for Circleville addresses and another for out-of-town addresses. Special wrappers are available, free, at the postoffice for persons who wish to separate their mail for easier delivery.

IN ADDITION, persons using the mails now for sending Christmas cards were reminded of the regulations governing the use of two-cent and three-cent stamps.

VanVliet pointed out two-cent stamps may be used on envelopes which are not sealed. Should the carrier be unable to locate the person for whom the letter is intended, the letter is not forwardable and is not returnable.

However, with the three-cent stamp, the letter may be sealed, it will be forwarded in case the addressee has moved or it will be returned if no forwarding address is available.

Recommendations for parcel post packages are that they be strongly wrapped, well packed and have an address on one side only. Most important, each package should have an address within the package also, in case the outside address is made unreadable.

Employed to work in the postoffice to date are Jessie Ater, Nettie Jenkins, Beatrice Meyers, Patricia Kicketts, Flora Jenkins and Beatrice Moorehead. Most of the extra carriers will be employed in the next few days.

Kiwanis Club Has Yule Party

Circleville Kiwanis Club members and their wives attended a special Christmas party Monday night in Mecca restaurant.

A program featuring Christmas music was presented for the 35 Kiwanis couples during the evening.

A chorus from Lancaster Boys' Industrial School presented several numbers, followed by selections by Kiwanians Louis Brevard at the electric guitar and Sterling Poling at the guitar.

The Rev. Robert Weaver, pastor of First Methodist church, presented an address on "The Origin of Christmas Carols," and Kiwanis couples exchanged Christmas gifts. A floral arrangement was presented to Mrs. Margaret Wanz, whose birthday, Dec. 24, was nearest to Christmas of the persons attending the party.

NEXT MONDAY night, Kiwanians will have a special Christmas party for the kiddies of the Pickaway County Children's Home. Santa Claus will be present for the party in the Mecca.

New members who have been accepted into the Circleville Club are Dr. Paul Jackson, "Red" Wilson and George Hartman. Kiwanians awarded pins for perfect attendance are Frank Wantz and Joe Bell, five years; Truman Eberly and Harold Clifton, four years; Frank Marion, three years; C. Ray Barnhart, two years; and Jim Carr, one year.

2 Persons Hurt In City Crashes

Two persons have been injured in minor auto crashes in Circleville during the last two days.

First of the crashes happened at about 11:55 p. m. Sunday at Court and Mill Sts., involving auto operated by Dick Lynn, 20, of Ashville Route 1, and the Rev. George Woodard, 45, of Columbus.

Police Sgt. Turney Ross said the Lynn auto skidded on wet pavement in the intersection and the autos collided headon. Injured was Miss Mary Pennoek, 92, passenger in the Rev. Mr. Woodard's car, who was treated for severe abrasions of her forehead.

The other crash happened at about 11 a. m. Monday at Washington and Ohio St. involving an auto operated north on Washington by Charles Wilkins, 27, of Logan St., and a car driven west on Ohio St. by Fred Karshner, 50, of Laurelville Route 1.

Officer Charles Smith said Karshner disregarded a stop sign and the autos struck in the intersection. Injured was Amos Hettiger, 19, passenger in the Wilkins car, who suffered lacerations of his face and hands and an injured right shoulder.

Karshner later was fined $5 and costs before the court of Mayor Ed Amey for failing to yield the right of way.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

WILLIS DOUNTZ
Willis Orville Dountz, 82, of Crumley St., Ashville, died Sunday evening in his home.

Mr. Dountz was born Nov. 5, 1871, in Scioto Township, son of Fredrick and Emmaline Nigh Dountz. A retired farmer and business man, he was preceded in death by two wives, Ada Redman, who died in 1902, and Cora Hays, who died in 1949.

Surviving him is a daughter, Mrs. Stanley Beckett, of Ashville; a son, W. Orville Dountz, of Orient; two stepsons, A. M. Hays and R. R. Hays, both of Coshocton; six grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday in Ashville Methodist church with the Rev. Dwight Woodworth officiating. Burial will be in Darbyville cemetery by direction of Bastian Funeral Home, Ashville.

Friends may call in the funeral home until 11 a. m. Wednesday, after which they may call in church.

Doctor's Office Breakin Scene

Police were called Tuesday morning to investigate a breakin at the office of Dr. Paul Jackson on N. Court St. near Main.

Receptionist Carolyn Wolford discovered the breakin shortly after she arrived at the office at 9:45 a. m. Police were called when Dr. Jackson arrived.

Dr. Jackson reported the burglary netted only a few dollars in change, taken from a desk drawer. He said a preliminary checkup showed none of his medical supplies or office equipment missing.

The breakin was investigated by Officers Charles Smith and Ludwell Mills, who expressed belief a front door to the office had been forced to gain entrance. Exit, they added, apparently was through an office window and over an adjoining roof.

Police also reported they investigated a breakin of the home economics department at Circleville High school. They said a pound of candy was stolen.

Girl, 3, Loses Fight For Life

Little Norma Joan Fetherolf, daughter of Fred F. and Mable Hart Fetherolf of South Bloomingville Route 1, lost her courageous four-month-old battle against the effects of infantile paralysis when she died at 9:20 a. m. Sunday in Columbus.

The three-year-old girl was first stricken last summer and since last August had been in Children's hospital in Columbus, where she was sent through co-operation in the case of the Hocking County Infantile Paralysis chapter.

Norma Jean, who was born August 24, 1950, is survived, besides her parents, by six sisters and one brother. They are Doris, Mary Virginia, Edna, Nova, and Cathy, and Fred Fetherolf Jr.

She also leaves a grandmother, Mrs. Mary Fetherolf of Ashville; grandfather, Millard Hart, also of Ashville; great-grandmother, Mrs. Samuel Moore of A. m. a. n. d. Route 2.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by the Deffenbaugh Funeral Home in Circleville.

3 Men Fined For Traffic Violation

Three men, two of whom were arrested by State Patrolman Gene Miller, were fined Tuesday in the court of Mayor Ed Amey for traffic violations.

The third man, nabbed by City Patrolman C. F. Smith following a minor traffic accident at E. Ohio St. and Washington St., was Fred Karshner, 23, of Columbus. He was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way, and was fined $5 and costs by Mayor Amey.

Nixon Has Detailed Report On Tour Ready For Experts

WASHINGTON (U)—Vice President Nixon has a briefcase full of problems, all studied at first hand, to spread before the National Security Council, perhaps today.

They deal with situations he examined in 70 days of travel and conversation with heads of government and plain citizens in Asia, the Middle East and the Pacific.

The council, composed of top officials of the executive department responsible for national policy at the highest level, has first call on Nixon's report.

By regions, here are some of the problems on which Nixon is prepared to report to the council:

1. South Pacific—Australia and New Zealand, both strongly pro-American, are worried by what they call "discriminatory" trade restrictions against their wool and dairy products.

2. FAR EAST—Nixon was told that Japan, bursting with a temporary economic boom, is about to reassert its leadership over Asia. Economically, however, the Japanese face the problem of developing greater new markets, to offset their dependence upon the areas now under Communist control.

3. Southeast Asia — The major problem is a growing French effort to settle a seven years' war with the Communist-led Vietminh forces through a negotiated truce, a movement spurred by the armistice in Korea. American officials on the spot say a truce now would open all of Indochina to the undisputed political influence of Moscow.

4. South Asia — The United States faces a basic decision in determining how to deal with India's Prime Minister Nehru, prime spokesman for neutralism.

Military aid to neighboring Pakistan, now being discussed, means risking Nehru's opposition.

5. Middle East—The major military weakness in this strategic stretch of the world is Iran. Aside from its pressing economic and political problems, this key country is difficult to defend, without a far greater military investment than is now being made.

Ike Ag Program Seeks 'Fair' Share Of Income For Farmer

CHICAGO (U)—Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, Republican majority leader in the House, said today the Eisenhower administration wants farmers to get a "fair" share of the national income.

But, he said, it does not want to make them wards of the government in doing so.

In a talk prepared for the annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Halleck said it has been established that agriculture is the "bellwether of our total domestic economy."

The GOP leader said answers to the problem of farm surpluses and lower prices are to be found in developing new uses for farm products, improvements in marketing systems, and development of a "greater food consciousness by our people."

"WHAT I AM suggesting," he said, "is simply that the problem of a sound and prosperous agricultural economy doesn't have a trick answer. There isn't any panacea, and the sooner we all realize that the sooner we will find the right solutions."

The federation may have found a way to allow Southern farmers to have high rigid price supports most of the time within the framework of a flexible price support system.

Delegates from southern cotton and peanut producing states came of the federation's convention insisting that present price floors be continued indefinitely for their crops.

Although apparently outnumbered in delegate voting power, the Southern leaders gained much of their demands in resolutions tentatively adopted by a convention policy-drafting committee.

Meanwhile, the policy makers let it be known that the Farm Bureau will not endorse proposed two-price plans for dealing with marketing and price-support problems for major export crops such as cotton, wheat and rice.

A NATIONAL Agricultural Advisory Committee appointed by President Eisenhower to help Secretary of Agriculture Benson draw

Miller, was charged with operating with fictitious license plates. He was fined $15 and costs.

Alvin Johnson, 41, also of Columbus, was fined $50 and costs for reckless driving on Route 23 where he was nabbed by Patrolman Miller.

There are about 200,000 service stations in the United States.

Action Comes On Heels Of Dulles Warning

eign Minister J. W. Beyen called it "very important." British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden declined to comment.

"I have nothing at all to say," snapped French Foreign Minister George Bidault.

DULLES SPOKE yesterday at a news conference after addressing the opening meeting of the NATO Council gathering. Informants said he made the same points to the council.

In the strongest language yet heard at an NATO meeting, the secretary of state warned:

1. Unless the European Defense Community Treaty is ratified quickly, the United States will have to "re-study" how to implement its obligations to NATO, and the disposition of U. S. troops "would, of course, be a factor in the agonizing reappraisal."

2. If the Western nations, "especially France and Germany," decide to commit suicide by failing to unite, "they may have to commit it alone."

Dulles' threats were aimed mainly at the French, who first proposed the EDC and then turned sour on the idea. They fear the pact, which would bring 12 West German divisions into a six-nation European army, would give German troops a new chance to invade France.

Although no official mention was made of the Dulles statement, French sources said privately that his remarks might reduce still further the chances that the National Assembly would ratify EDC.

THE PARIS newspaper L'Aurore, normally pro-American, described Dulles' statement as "heartbreaking" and accused him of "a complete lack of diplomacy." L'Aurore declared: "France does not want to have to take orders from anybody."

In Britain, the liberal Manchester Guardian commented: "It would be folly simply because of failure to agree immediately on arming Germany, to tear down the defenses which have been built in Europe since 1950. The suicide would be America's as much as Europe's."

Toledo Lad, 17, To Be Rated Adult

TOLEDO (U)—Charles Walter Barker, 17, will be tried as an adult on charges he participated in the kidnap-rape of a Toledo girl.

In view of the youth's long police record, Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. approved charging him as an adult. As a juvenile, he could have been imprisoned only until he reached 21.

Many Methods To Avert Christmas Bankruptcy; Just Use Ingenuity!

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—What are you doing to cut down Christmas costs?
Some people complain, "I no longer can tell the difference between Christmas and bankruptcy."
They have let this festive season get out of hand. But there is no reason why you can't enjoy a fine Christmas at minimum expense if you show a little ingenuity. You may also have to act like a heel, but everybody else will be so full of the milk of human kindness they will overlook it. And think of the money you'll save.
You probably still have last year's Christmas cards. So mail them back to the people who sent them to you, and enclose a note saying:

"I received so much pleasure from looking at your Christmas card in 1933 I am unable to deny you the same joy in 1934. May it make the new year happy for you."
Could anyone object to that? Now what about presents for your friends? Do something different. Why not get your wife to collect some old vests. Every closet has a few. Cut holes all over them, and embroider the holes with green and red yarn. Then mail each vest to a friend with this letter:
"May the enclosed Christmas-tree-warmer keep your sweet little tree snug and cozy on the coldest night. Be careful not to bruise its tender little branches when you button on the warmer around it."

Why, people will be talking for days after getting a present like that about how thoughtful and sentimental you were to think of a way to keep their Christmas tree from catching pneumonia.
Your wife, of course, can't be overlooked. One way to please her is to pick out a luxurious bathrobe one size smaller than a circus tent, charge it, and bring it home. When she finds it doesn't fit, she will take it back to the store after Christmas. But by then you will be hollering so loud about bills she won't have the heart to exchange it for something else. Meanwhile, you did give it to her, didn't you?
Almost everybody has two aunts he has to send a Christmas gift to. You can cut this item in half by buying a pair of gloves and mailing one glove in a box to each aunt. Don't worry. They won't blame you.
There is also the problem of what to do about all your nieces and nephews. A simple solution is to send each a letter containing a dollar bill, and a note:

"I am sending you this $1 because I think you probably would like to pick out something for yourself, and anyway I know you could use a little money at Christmas."
The kids will look at the buck and murmur sadly:
"Poor old uncle, he is getting so near-sighted."
The question of Christmas tips is easily solved. Just tell all the folks who usually hold their palms out at this time of year, "Gee, no Santa Claus for me. I just got my two weeks' notice at the office." They not only won't look for tips, some might even offer to lend you money. If they do, take it. You can pay them back later, if it doesn't slip your mind, and it will make them feel good to think they have lightened your load.
Christmas Day presents the final hurdle—how to get you and your wife a free meal. Simple. You just go to a neighbor on Christmas morning, admire his tree, and remark that a strange dog leaped through the window, grabbed up your Christmas turkey, and bounded out again.

"Why don't you and your missus try potlock with us?" your neighbor will ask sympathetically. Don't grab at his offer. See what he's got on the menu first. If it isn't satisfactory, go on to another neighbor with your hard luck tale. There is no need for eating a second-rate meal even on a cut-rate Christmas.
If you follow these rules, you'll find that you've had a fine, mellow, merry Christmas at the lowest possible expense.
"After all," you can tell yourself, "it isn't how much you spend that's really important—it's the spirit of the thing."
A typical man's brain weighs about 50 ounces.

Big Race Tracks Hint Pull-Out

COLUMBUS (AP)—Officials of the United States Trotting Assn., plan to poll 33 extended pari-mutuel tracks about a reported move to set up their own regulations.
Some 15 representatives of pari-mutuel tracks expressed dissatisfaction over association control and reportedly felt they should have more say over operations of their tracks than while remaining in the USTA that regulates virtually all harness racing. They reportedly felt they should have more to say about their operations because they supply much of the association's funds through a percentage of purses.

BILL OF RIGHTS

DECEMBER 15 IS THE anniversary of the ratification of the Bill of Rights. On that date in 1791 Virginia was the eighth state to ratify, thus enabling the Secretary of State to proclaim the amendments as being in force.

The Constitution as referred to the several states did not include the Bill of Rights. It was assumed by the convention that state constitutions adequately protected these fundamental rights of the people. But at all ratifying conventions protests against the convention's failure to submit a bill of rights were lodged. It is believed that the Constitution would never have been accepted by the states had not an agreement been reached to include a Bill of Rights by amendment.

Congress at its first session submitted 12 amendments. Ten were adopted. They were called the Bill of Rights.

Essentially, the rights asserted and reserved to the people in these amendments are their protection against the tyranny of a central government. The Bill of Rights originated when the common people of Great Britain, offended beyond endurance by the tyranny of James II, laid upon his successors, William and Mary, certain restraints. That was in 1689. The event was a great stride in the unending struggle of peoples to defend themselves against the artifices and force by which lustful, ambitious and corrupt men gain control of government and hold it.

Virginia had set up such a Bill of Rights in 1776. It appealed to the other states. The Bill of Rights in the Constitution closely follows the Virginia declaration.

The mere inclusion of this Bill of Rights—the rights won by long struggle and much suffering—in the Constitution did not, however, guarantee respect for the natural rights of man. Government has time and again assailed an dbreached these rights. The basic struggle is still on—the battle of the people against tyrant sovereignty.

SOCIAL SECURITY TAX

ONE OF THE EARLY decisions Congress must make is whether to let the scheduled social security payroll tax rise from 1½ to 2 per cent for both employers and employees or freeze it at the present figure. The administration favors the latter course.

Social security funds have been accumulating until today they total $18.5 billion. To many Congressmen that is large enough, but others, and the labor unions, want to hike the rate. This huge fund, of course, is in government bonds. The government spends the money as it is paid in and puts government bonds in the fund.

A thorough review of the social security system is getting under way and it would be putting the cart before the horse to raise present rates until the findings are

These Days

In the struggle for power, everything becomes a weapon—even words. Symbols and ideas, clothed in good or bad words, are planted in the minds of men and women and children. We say "Nazi" and a thousand images present themselves—the man with the funny mustache, the marching battalions, the murderous camps, a black page of history. The word, Nazi, is a bad word and will probably always remain bad, like hobgoblin or dragon.

Sometimes the phrase is not so clear. For instance, among intellectuals, "Historical Necessity," is a much debated term. It has, in a manner, been used to replace in their minds the theological term, God. The religious man will say that man is guided in life by Natural Law, the revealed law of God. The Marxist also has a determining factor, "Historical Necessity," by which he explains that which has no explanation in morals as, for instance, the man-made famine in the Ukraine with its holocaust or the party purges with their whimsical murders. The theologian says, "It is God's will"; the Marxist says, "It is historical necessity." The theologian says that man lives morally by Natural Law; the Marxist says that man does what he must do because history requires that he do it.

To a modern mind, the term "historical necessity" sounds modern. It sounds as though it really answers some questions while actually it only raises new ones. It satisfies the mind that wants to avoid responsibility for personal or public conduct. It is a way out until challenged.

The term, Marxist, is with some a good word and with others a bad word. Those who follow this new divinity, Karl Marx, believe that he has the answer for everything; those who abhor this secular doctrine look upon it as an obscene disturbance of an orderly system of life that for at least 2,000 years has been of benefit to man. By using the phrase, "Historical Necessity," the Marxists have been able to clothe their ideas in language which many anti-Communists, particularly among those who are engaged in the physical and natural sciences, can accept.

Such a word as "McCarthyism" works its way into the language. Immediately it becomes a cause to be fought for or against. Senator McCarthy accepted it as a challenge after the "Daily Worker" thrust the word upon us. As a bad word, it has been made to include more than the personality or conduct of Senator McCarthy.

I have heard it repeated even by serious-minded persons that McCarthyism means an attack on Protestant churches. The fact is that Dr. J. B. Matthews never testified on this subject before the McCarthy Committee. The contention arose over an article in "The American Mercury," written and prepared for publication before Matthews joined the staff of the McCarthy Committee. Nevertheless, it has become associated with McCarthyism. A vast propaganda has been let loose to make McCarthyism a bad word.

in. It may be found desirable to substitute pay-as-you-go for the reserve fund of government bonds.

In a permanently workable social security system people must become reconciled to pay the necessary taxes. Otherwise Congress will eventually appropriate payments out of general tax funds. And that could spell the doom of the program.

Days are shortening rapidly, but not necessarily the headaches that accompany them.

Length of Labor Pains Varies

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

STATISTICS mean little to the woman in labor, but the average mother, when having a baby, has labor pains for about thirteen hours with her first one and about eight hours with her second.

However, certain women may have more prolonged periods of labor pains. This occurs in from two to nine per cent.

Since prolonged labor increases the chances for infection and hemorrhage, it is a situation to treat with concern.

Muscular Contraction

Labor pains are caused by contraction of the womb. This causes the mouth of the womb to increase in size so that the baby can fit through and be delivered.

There are many diseases and conditions which can prolong labor. Two common reasons are irregularity of the womb's contractions or some disproportion between the baby and the opening through which it has to pass. The baby may also be coming in an abnormal manner rather than head first, and this, too, may cause prolonged labor.

Frequently, a woman will get false labor pains. This can be determined on examination by her physician.

During the period when labor is prolonged, she is usually given no food and only small amounts of fluids which are fed by vein. Most cases of prolonged labor can be delivered with safety to the mother and the child under the careful guidance of a physician.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mr. H. V.: I have low blood pressure. Do you think red beets would bring it up?

Answer: There is no evidence that red beets would be of any benefit to you in raising your blood pressure. It would be advisable for you to have a complete physical examination by your physician.

ERIC MUST have something in mind. Surely he'd read the papers, he wouldn't suggest it if... Even so, she shouldn't go.

Charlotte stuffed the telegram in her purse and started up the stairs. She'd decide after she read the paper.

Still she postponed it, taking time to hang up her wraps tidily, to brush her shining, clean hair, to change into her ballet slippers. Was she more afraid of what she'd find or not find? The between-the-line insinuations?

She spread the paper on the table, sat down and began to read. Quickly, skimming the headlines with eyes that seemed almost unwilling to look, afraid... at first hitting only the highlights.

...the death of Kingsley H. Cummings, fifty. The case provides detectives with a mystery they said may mean a homicide... The only more leg suggestions that might have been caused by kicking. On the other hand, they could have been incurred in the fall... Police have questioned many employees. However, interest centers in the Advertising Department, due to certain occurrences yesterday. Sam Grant, night watchman, told police the only person to leave the store after 7:53 was Charlotte Morgan, copywriter. On his rounds earlier in the evening, Mr. Grant had conversed with Miss Morgan, who was working late... When questioned, the attractive brunette revealed that at one time she had some dates with Kingsley Cummings, who was twice her age. She is quoted as saying that it was never a romance, that her role was rather that of a protegee. She also said that yesterday afternoon Mr. Cummings promoted her to advertising manager, following the dismissal of Mario Milani.

Detectives questioned Mr. Milani at his neat, middle-class Long Island home. They quote him as admitting that he arrived at home at one a. m. this morning, after a tour of several midtown bars. Mrs. Milani bore out her husband's statement that he is not a drinking man, and that last evening's indulgence was an emotional reaction to his dismissal. He is unable to recall precisely which bars he visited.

Police hint that several curious angles have come to light in this puzzling case.

There it was—the innuendo between the lines. What angles? Concerning whom?

When the telephone rang, Charlotte was sure it was her mother; in fact, she'd marveled all day at her mother's self-control in not calling. But it was Norma, surprisingly.

"Charlotte," she said, "I wondered if you'd care to come to dinner, here at home, just Bob and me. This is all so nerve-racking, and I thought it must be worse if you're alone..."

"That's very nice of you," Charlotte said. "But I—I have a dinner date."

"Oh. Well, I just thought... Have you talked to anyone, any of the gang, I mean?"

"No."

"I did. I called up everybody except Eric; sort of misery loves company stuff, you know. After the detective was here. Fortunately, we had dinner guests last night, four witnesses for me; but still one feels so sort of exposed." She paused. "Of course, in a way you had witnesses, too. But poor Mario..."

"Yes."

"I talked to Tim. I got a feeling his alibi's a little shaky; could be he was out with a gal last night, which leaves him some explaining to do at home if not to the police. Honestly, it just reminds you you should so live that you can look the police in the eye any day."

"Well, you can. How about the rest?"

"Do you know, Velora was at the movies last night. She says And Dorothy had gone for a long walk, between seven-thirty and eight-thirty. She does that for her figure, you know; but of all times to pick! They're both nervous wrecks, especially Velora, I should think, after that peculiar statement she made at the party."

And Dorothy—I don't know, she sounded awfully queer."

"I shouldn't wonder. That accounts for everyone but Eric and Doodles."

"Oh, Velora had talked to her. She was safe at home in the bosom of her family last night."

"There's nothing like a family bosom to keep one on the straight and narrow."

"I don't know about Eric's alibi," Norma chatted on, "but of course he didn't do it. Charlotte, do you have any theories—after all, you were there. That is, I mean..." She laughed, embarrassed.

"Yes, I was there," Charlotte said. "Let's face it. But I've never been any good at guessing whodunits. Well, thank you again for asking me over. See you Monday; I suppose there's business as usual Monday."

"I suppose so. Doesn't it seem hard-boiled? Poor Mr. Cummings; I suppose that early tragedy in his life more or less explains him. Of course you knew him better..."

"Yes. Well, good-by, Norma."

"Good-by."

Charlotte hung up thoughtfully. What made Norma suddenly so prying, the self-appointed investigator? Nice Norma who had always minded her own business. Why had she wanted Charlotte for dinner? So that later she could say, "Imagine, she was right here in our house last Saturday night?"

What had Norma said about King's early tragedy more or less explaining him? Charlotte had just skimmed that in the paper, though of course King had told her about it. Now she ran her eye down the column till she came to it. "Mr. Cummings," the paper said, "was a widower. His young wife died in childbirth in 1925. The baby, a boy, died two days later."

Did that "more or less explain" King? Had that been the blow from which he'd never risen the same? Had that made him hate life and find it futile, made him envy all who were allowed to be happy and do his utmost to ruin their lives? Scratch the inhuman sadist and find a suffering, defeated human? Could be.

news behind the news

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's United Nations proposal for internationalization of atomic energy for civilian consumption virtually assures congressional action to demilitarize this source of fuel at the 1954 session. It is the greatest reinforcement which the movement to release this power for general use has received since World War II.

If Russia persists in refusing to participate in the Eisenhower program, it is pointed out that there will be even more compelling reasons for accelerating it at home and in cooperation with friendly and trustworthy countries.

In frequent testimony before the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, as well as in off-the-record conversations, State Department spokesmen have stressed the material and intangible advantages the United States would gain in becoming the first to develop nuclear force for peacetime utilization.

ASPECTS—The internationalization proposed by the President of the United States, in their opinion, would be a practical demonstration that this country places greater emphasis on the possible blessings of this discovery than on its destructive aspects.

Should Moscow continue to sneer at it, haggle and still reject the idea, the Reds would be held responsible for depriving the world of a miracle that can make deserts bloom, unlock the hidden treasures of nature and raise the living standards of "backward and oppressed peoples"—in Europe, the Middle East, India, China, Africa.

Under proper safeguards, and with nuclear reactors designed to produce only power, and not plutonium, scientists believe there would be minimum danger in exporting the necessary equipment and materials.

POWER—But should it prove impracticable to ship fissionable materials and equipment overseas because of Russian recalcitrancy, it is argued that the U. S. should assume leadership in this field at home and on its own initiative.

Besides strengthening our economic and industrial system and conserving our supplies of fossil fuels—coal, oil, gas—it would give us the same supremacy in this realm that we now possess in the military, financial, agricultural and natural resources categories. The United States would become an atomic Statue of Liberty toward which the world would have to turn sooner or later.

It is almost impossible, in the opinion of experts on this question, to calculate the prestige and power which such atomic authority would bestow upon the West versus the East.

INFLUENCE—Walter L. Cisl, an adviser to AEC as president of the Detroit Edison Company, detailed and dramatized this idea in recent speeches. Addressing a project conference at

Ann Arbor, Mich., he said:

"It seems to me also that it is possible to develop peacetime use of atomic energy as a source of heat for industrial purposes, it may give us one of the best means of combating the spread of Communistic influence over the other parts of the world. There are other countries, with no great fuel resources like our own, which need atomic energy more than we do. When you think of some of the countries in Western Europe, such as the Netherlands, Belgium and France, you will realize that."

"It was only a few weeks ago that the queen of the Netherlands visited you here on the Michigan campus. I had occasion to talk with her about electric power and atomic energy. And she said: 'You know our coal reserves are rapidly dwindling and we must plan the future supply of our heat energy needs. She believes the problem can be solved only through the development of this new-found source—atomic energy.'"

When questioned, the attractive brunette revealed that at one time she had some dates with Kingsley Cummings, who was twice her age. She is quoted as saying that it was never a romance, that her role was rather that of protegee. She also said that yesterday afternoon Mr. Cummings promoted her to advertising manager, following the dismissal of Mario Milani.

Detectives questioned Mr. Milani at his neat, middle-class Long Island home. They quote him as admitting that he arrived at home at one a. m. this morning, after a tour of several midtown bars. Mrs. Milani bore out her husband's statement that he is not a drinking man, and that last evening's indulgence was an emotional reaction to his dismissal. He is unable to recall precisely which bars he visited.

Police hint that several curious angles have come to light in this puzzling case.

There it was—the innuendo between the lines. What angles? Concerning whom?

When the telephone rang, Charlotte was sure it was her mother; in fact, she'd marveled all day at her mother's self-control in not calling. But it was Norma, surprisingly.

"Charlotte," she said, "I wondered if you'd care to come to dinner, here at home, just Bob and me. This is all so nerve-racking, and I thought it must be worse if you're alone..."

"That's very nice of you," Charlotte said. "But I—I have a dinner date."

"Oh. Well, I just thought... Have you talked to anyone, any of the gang, I mean?"

"No."

"I did. I called up everybody except Eric; sort of misery loves company stuff, you know. After the detective was here. Fortunately, we had dinner guests last night, four witnesses for me; but still one feels so sort of exposed." She paused. "Of course, in a way you had witnesses, too. But poor Mario."

"Yes."

"I talked to Tim. I got a feeling his alibi's a little shaky; could be he was out with a gal last night, which leaves him some explaining to do at home if not to the police. Honestly, it just reminds you you should so live that you can look the police in the eye any day."

"Well, you can. How about the rest?"

"Do you know, Velora was at the movies last night. She says And Dorothy had gone for a long walk, between seven-thirty and eight-thirty. She does that for her figure, you know; but of all times to pick! They're both nervous wrecks, especially Velora. I should think, after that peculiar statement she made at the party,

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's United Nations proposal for internationalization of atomic energy for civilian consumption virtually assures congressional action to demilitarize this source of fuel at the 1954 session. It is the greatest reinforcement which the movement to release this power for general use has received since World War II.

If Russia persists in refusing to participate in the Eisenhower program, it is pointed out that there will be even more compelling reasons for accelerating it at home and in cooperation with friendly and trustworthy countries.

In frequent testimony before the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, as well as in off-the-record conversations, State Department spokesmen have stressed the material and intangible advantages the United States would gain in becoming the first to develop nuclear force for peacetime utilization.

ASPECTS—The internationalization proposed by the President of the United States, in their opinion, would be a practical demonstration that this country places greater emphasis on the possible blessings of this discovery than on its destructive aspects.

Should Moscow continue to sneer at it, haggle and still reject the idea, the Reds would be held responsible for depriving the world of a miracle that can make deserts bloom, unlock the hidden treasures of nature and raise the living standards of "backward and oppressed peoples"—in Europe, the Middle East, India, China, Africa.

Under proper safeguards, and with nuclear reactors designed to produce only power, and not plutonium, scientists believe there would be minimum danger in exporting the necessary equipment and materials.

POWER—But should it prove impracticable to ship fissionable materials and equipment overseas because of Russian recalcitrancy, it is argued that the U. S. should assume leadership in this field at home and on its own initiative.

Besides strengthening our economic and industrial system and conserving our supplies of fossil fuels—coal, oil, gas—it would give us the same supremacy in this realm that we now possess in the military, financial, agricultural and natural resources categories. The United States would become an atomic State of Liberty toward which the world would have to turn sooner or later.

It is almost impossible, in the opinion of experts on this question, to calculate the prestige and power which such atomic authority would bestow upon the West versus the East.

INFLUENCE—Walter L. Cisl, an adviser to AEC as president of the Detroit Edison Company, detailed and dramatized this idea in recent speeches. Addressing a project conference at

Ann Arbor, Mich., he said:

"It seems to me also that if it is possible to develop peacetime use of atomic energy as a source of heat for industrial purposes, it may give us one of the best means of combating the spread of Communistic influence over the other parts of the world. There are other countries, with no great fuel resources like our own, which need atomic energy more than we do. When you think of some of the countries in Western Europe, such as the Netherlands, Belgium and France, you will realize that."

"It was only a few weeks ago that the queen of the Netherlands visited you here on the Michigan campus. I had occasion to talk with her about electric power and atomic energy. And she said: 'You know our coal reserves are rapidly dwindling and we must plan the future supply of our heat energy needs. She believes the problem can be solved only through the development of this new-found source—atomic energy.'"

Newcomer's Club Christmas Meet Features Gift Contest

Mrs. Leora Sayre Conducts Meeting

Newcomer's Club met Monday evening for their regular meeting. A brief business session was presided over by Mrs. Leora Sayre. Cooperative arrangements and changes were made for future club activity.

Mrs. Gene Cronenwett entertained the group by an explanatory introduction of her auto harp. She demonstrated its performance by playing hymns and songs of the season and led in group singing. Mrs. John Carr, accompanied by Mrs. Cronenwett, sang "Silent Night" in German.

During judging of the gift wrapping contest, supervised by the program chairman, Mrs. Wally Yamarick, members and guest played games and visited. Judges for the contest were Mrs. M. E. ### Ladies Aid of First EUB Church Conducts Meeting

Quarterly meeting of Ladies' Aid Society of First Evangelical United Brethren church was held Monday in the service center with 19 members and guests present.

Mrs. Edwin Richardson led devotions and gave a Christmas reading. During a business session, the group voted to aid in the next Blood Bank visit in Circleville.

The Rev. Carl L. Wilson announced a New Year's eve party to be held from 9 p. m. to 12 p. m. in the service center. The party is to be sponsored by the young people for all the members of the parish. Program included group singing of Christmas carols and readings by Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Hazel Shelton, Mrs. Charles Ater, Mrs. Kelly Alderman and Mrs. Frank Hawkes. A contest and gift exchange completed the social hour.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Neuding and her committee.

Here's a delicious luncheon dish to serve to your bridge club. Fill hollowed out finger rolls with chicken salad and heat in the oven; serve with slices of canned cranberry sauce and sprigs of watercress or parsley.

Try kohlrabi if you can get it in your market. Peel the outer fibre from the vegetable, dice and steam it. Douse with melted butter or margarine and season with salt and pepper before serving.

Always wash your white nylon slips alone. If you wash them along with colored articles, they may pick up some of the color.

It's a good idea to sift dry ingredients, when you are baking, onto a piece of waxed or clean brown paper. Saves washing a utensil!

WASHINGTON (AP)—The exasperation of the Eisenhower administration—in trying to get the French to join a single European army—reads like a fever chart.

Secretary of State Dulles, representing the administration, started out fairly warm. He was red hot yesterday in Paris where he warned the French:

If they don't join the single army soon, this country may pull its troops out of Europe. As he put it, this country would be forced to an "agonizing reappraisal" of its basic policies toward Europe.

Dulles showed his first signs of temper last Jan. 27, six days after taking office. He said this country would have to do a "little re-thinking" if there seemed no chance for European unity.

He followed this up with a fast tour of Europe, returned, and on Feb. 12 said that unless there was concrete evidence of progress toward unity "future planning will be difficult."

This rolled off the French. They still didn't join the single army, although they're the ones who proposed it years ago. Since February President Eisenhower and Dulles have met with them several times, Dulles more than Eisenhower.

This month at Bermuda both sat down with French Premier Laniel and French Foreign Minister Bidault, together with Britain's Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden.

The Americans and British reportedly put the heat on the Frenchmen to get moving. But it was not reported they got any solid promises. Neither Frenchman was in position to be too positive.

This month the French held national elections which may leave Laniel and Bidault unemployed.

This is the background: On March 17, 1948, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg signed a mutual defense agreement, called the Brussels Pact.

If Russia attacked, it was felt here and abroad, those five nations might not be enough to save Western Europe. Something stronger was needed. This led to creation of NATO—North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The NATO Treaty was signed April 4, 1949.

NATO has 14 members: the States, Canada, Iceland, Greece, Turkey, Italy, Portugal, Norway, Denmark, and the five Brussels Pact countries.

Under NATO each country would retain its own individual army although they planned their defense together.

The United States, particularly, was concerned about West Germany, with all its manpower and resources, which was not included in NATO and was still unarmed. If it remained unarmed, and Russia attacked, the Russians could sweep across Germany unhindered.

Yet, the French worried about letting their old German enemy rearm. Finally, the French suggested the single European army idea: it would be made up of troops from France, West Germany, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg and Italy.

That meant giving up, for the greater protection of all, individual command of their armies. The single army would be unified and under single command.

Then, the more the French

'Railroad Scrooges' Blamed For British Yule Strike

LONDON (AP)—Santa Claus was a key issue today in Britain's biggest strike threat since the general strike of 1926.

The National Union of Railwaymen (NUR) has called on its 400,000 members to strike next Sunday at midnight.

A strike on the state-owned railways would paralyze a nation looking forward to its gayest Christmas since before the war—with plenty of food and drink and unrationed goods.

The immediate issue is whether the railwaymen are entitled to a pay raise of 56 cents or $3.60 a week.

But Santa Claus was quickly injected into the dispute.

"Railway scrooges," shouted The People, Labor party mouthpiece, in a front-page headline denouncing union leaders for calling the strike on the holiday week.

"You'd almost think the leaders of the NUR had no children of their own and never believed in Santa Claus," said the Sunday newspaper.

"At any rate they are going the right way to stop youngsters from having a happy Christmas by taking a train trip to meet the old man in white whiskers at the big stores . . . Shame on them."

The Sunday Pictorial, which calls itself a newspaper of the left-wing viewpoint, cried out in big black headlines: "Cabinet Must Stop Christmas Rail Strike."

Calling upon the government to move in immediately to settle the dispute, the pictorial declared:

"Forget for the moment whether the railwaymen's pay claims are justified or not. Forget whether they are right or wrong to threaten strike action at such short notice at this time.

"The first step must be to prevent this calamity happening at all."

Interjection of Santa Claus into the dispute brought this sharp reproof from an NUR organizer at a meeting of union members:

"You are not to feel ashamed of yourselves when people say of the strike you are spoiling the kids' Christmas. There will be little or no Christmas festivities in the homes of railwaymen on the wages they are getting."

The British Transport Commission was called into emergency session today to consider ways of heading off the walkout. Its chairman, Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, was reported ready to ask for government intervention if the union refuses to compromise.

The last time labor trouble shut down Britain's rail lines was during the great general strike.

The unions are demanding a 15 per cent hike in wages which now average $24.07—8 pounds 11 shillings 11 pence—a week. The Railway Staff National Tribunal, whose rulings always have been accepted in the past, awarded a weekly increase of only 4 shillings, 56 cents.

National Kids Day Foundation Rapped

NEW YORK (AP)—A state senator claims the National Kids Day Foundation, which solicited funds over the names of Bing Crosby and Mrs. Bob Hope, raised $2,931,000 last year but spent only 10 per cent for charity.

The charge was made by Sen. Bernard Tompkins, chairman of a joint legislative committee which is holding public hearings into charity racketeering. He has affidavits from Crosby and Mrs. Hope detailing their efforts to disassociate themselves from the foundation after they learned that about 90 cents of every dollar was going for fund raising and administrative expenses.

Collegians To Pay With Own Blood

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Fraternity men at the University of Pennsylvania start paying their fines in blood today.

The Inter-Fraternity Council decided that when fines are assessed against member fraternities for violating council rules, the fines can be paid off at the rate of one pint of blood for each $5 fine.

Half the blood will go to the Red Cross blood bank. The other half will go for 17-year-old Eddie Fox of Orrtanna, Pa., in Adams County. Eddie was badly burned in a futile attempt to save a younger brother from burning to death in a fire 3½ years ago. He still needs at least two blood transfusions a week at University Hospital here.

Grocer Winds Up

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (AP)—Police said a grocer drove off a holdup man armed with a knife last night by throwing "everything he could get his hands on." The missiles included salad dressing, oleomargarine and cheese.

thought of letting Germany rearm, even in this limited way, the less they liked it. And they've been stalling about joining it ever since.

Conservancy Fund Spending Curbed

COLUMBUS (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Dana F. Reynolds has ordered the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District not to spend any of the $12,000 it has left in its operating funds.

He issued the order yesterday on petition of Prosecutor Frank H. Kearns who asks repayment of $7,036.55 he says Franklin County loaned the district. The conservancy district setup has been in legal hot water since the state supreme court ruled last spring the Scioto-Sandusky district had no right to issue levies without county permission.

Sheriff Liability Goes Into Court

COLUMBUS (AP)—The question of whether sheriffs are liable for death benefits for their special deputies was taken to common pleas court yesterday by Mrs. Frank R. Owens of Indianapolis whose husband, a special deputy, was killed in a 1949 traffic accident here.

The state industrial commission ruled sheriffs liable and awarded Mrs. Owens $9,000 Sept. 21. The commission reversed its decision Oct. 14 after sheriffs throughout the state protested and cancelled special commissions.

Farmers Get 45 Cents Of Market Dollar

Farmers received 45 cents of every dollar consumers spent on farm products in 1953.

Quoting United States Department of Agriculture figures, the 45 cents is two cents less than 1952 and down three cents from the 1951 average. The USDA report on marketing and transportation is based on an average of prices paid for food in retail grocery stores.

Marketing margins—the dollar-and-cents charges for services performed in processing, distribution, and selling of farm products—usually do not shrink with farm prices. Such margins tend to take a larger percentage of the consumer's dollar when farm prices drop. Marketing costs are based on such things as wages, transportation, rents, taxes, and costs of machinery and facilities used in food handling and processing. They do not respond directly to changing prices for the commodities being handled.

FARM PRICES, however, are sensitive to changes in supply and demand. They rise suddenly in response to war or defense-created shortages and fall suddenly when demand falls off and surpluses are created.

Overall marketing costs are slower to react. But once they have risen in response to wage contracts calling for higher pay schedules, increases in taxes and rents, and higher freight and utility rates, any attempt to lower them meets with resistance.

Phone Brings Suit

Ohio Youngsters Getting Special Business Training

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If the clerk who waits on you when you're doing your Christmas shopping looks like a high school girl, she probably is.

But don't jump to the conclusion she's inexperienced at waiting on customers, because she's probably as well trained as the veteran clerk.

That's because of the distributive education classes in high schools throughout the state for both high school students and adults. Local merchants cooperate in sponsoring the classes that give this training.

This year several thousand high school students and adults took short courses that prepared them for Christmas season work.

"The work-learn theory of education is good all through the year but it is especially valuable as a cooperative effort during the holiday season when the stores need sales people," says Dr. Clyde Hisson, state director of education.

The students learn in their classrooms and use local stores as "laboratories" to test their classroom teaching.

"The stores are delighted with the program," says Miss Marguerite Loos, state supervisor of vocational distributive education. She cited Youngstown as an example, saying that of the 569 students taking this type of vocational education 260 enrolled in a course called "Jingle Bells Christmas Selling Class."

She said successful classes for beginners in distributive education have been held in Akron, Ashland, Ashtabula, Barberton, Bellaire, Bellevue, Bryan, Canton, East Akron, Elyria, Fostoria, Fremont, Marion, Massillon, Napoleon, Newark, Norwalk, Norwood, Sandusky, Steubenville, Toledo and Zanesville.

During the 1952-53 school year a total of 6,540 Ohio high school students and adults was enrolled in distributive education.

"The customer profits from the Christmas courses because the students are taught that they're selling happiness," Miss Loos said. The state training program covers work in department, specialty, food, furniture, hardware, paint and drug stores as well as restaurants, interior decorating shops, dry cleaners, life underwriting firms, service stations, hotels and inns, and financial institutions.

Miss Loos said it is especially welcomed by the small businessman who does not have facilities for extensive training of personnel. More types of courses are offered in the larger cities.

The courses vary in length from several meetings to a semester or a year, depending on the subject. Classes are held either in the day or evening, depending upon the needs and desires of those attending.

They might be in the school, a private meeting room, chamber of commerce room or a business establishment.

Woman Is Held In Stock Sales

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Joe Ann Rogers, 43-year-old Los Angeles woman charged with selling worthless television stock, waived preliminary hearing before Probate Judge John Jackson yesterday and was sent to the county jail for lack of $5,000 bond.

She was arrested in Salem, Ore., last month and charged with obtaining money under false pretenses in Boise by posing as Claudia of the radio program One Man's Family.

Highball Andy's Finale 'Different'

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Years ago as a young railroadman Andrew J. (Highball Andy) Stoll said, "When I retire you'll see something different."

Yesterday 66-year-old Highball Andy kept his promise. When he brought his New York Central passenger train here from Cleveland for the last time, he wore:

A Chesterfield overcoat with velvet collar, a black homburg hat, a white carnation and a white scarf around his throat.

Owl's Appearance Kills 1,537 Chicks

EPHRAIM, Utah (AP)—Wally Durfee reported yesterday a hoot owl got into a coop of 4,000 10-week-old New Hampshire chickens. He found the owl still flying back and forth, trying to get out, the next morning.

As he untangled the mass of chickens piled up in a corner he counted 1,537 of them dead. He estimated the loss at $1,350.

Ohio History Gets Full Attention Here

If Ohio history is being neglected in schools of the Buckeye State, Superintendent George D. McDowell of Pickaway County schools said the finger can't be pointed at the schools of this district.

He produced circulars Monday to show how his office has distributed at intervals the information needed to facilitate the study of the state's history in county schools. Extensive data for this purpose was sent to county schools last year and more will very likely be distributed during the current year, McDowell said.

"It's standard procedure here in Pickaway County," he explained, "because we've always considered Ohio history a very important subject for all pupils."

Fred J. Milligan of Columbus, chairman of the board of trustees of the Ohio State Historical Society, was quoted last Sunday as saying "an increasing lack of voter interest is due to a deficiency in background of local history." He was said to be in favor of a state law requiring that Ohio history be taught in the state's schools.

Emerson Connell Serves In Korea

Cpl. Emerson B. Connell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Connell of Derby, has joined the 25th Infantry Division in Korea.

Rushed to Korea during the early days of the conflict, the 25th Infantry took part in some of the most bitter fighting on the peninsula. It is now undergoing intensive post-truce training.

Corp. Connell, whose wife, Betty Lou, lives at 32 Station st., Ashville, entered the Army last April and completed basic training at Camp Breckinridge, Ky.

Sokolsky's These Days

Anti-Semitism is a bad word per se. It represents a negative concept of life, an opposition to human beings on narrow racial and religious grounds. Therefore whatever can be identified as anti-Semitic is bad. This word has been used to separate Jews from good friends. All Communists must be anti-Semitic because it is essential in Communism that God is a myth, religion an opiate, and any group separate from others on any basis but the class struggle should be suppressed. In the Soviet Empire, anti-Semitism is practiced as state and party policy.

Moral Rearmament is being fought because it rejects the class struggle and insists that only those who live moral lives can observe life from a moral standpoint. In this movement, man struggles with himself as Job did; if he can change himself into a morally guided person, he is likely to have a standard for conduct which comes not from the exaltation of man but guidance from God.

Here is a use of words as a weapon for positive living as an individual which differs from class dictatorship in the present phase of the Marxist revolution. Words as weapons are being used on all sides, like sown seeds. Sometimes they blossom into magnificent beauty; sometimes they grow into weeds that clutter our lives and fill the world with misconception and misery.

Exclusive Tank Contract Rapped

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) has asked for an investigation of a contract he says provides for exclusive production by General Motors Corp. of M48 tanks for the Army.

The senator asked Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee to order hearings on the $200 million contract. Kefauver said he feared having only one supplier of the tanks would lead to loss by other producers of "skilled technicians and know-how." He contended the action might be a dangerous departure from "the principle of maintaining a very broad production base."

Health Chief Outlines Ohio's Water Pollution Problems

EDITOR'S Note: Dr. John W. Porterfield, state health director and chairman of the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board is concerned about the state's pollution problem. The following is the first of a series outlining the original problem, early efforts to solve it, progress up to now, and a report on how Ohio compares with other states in pollution control.

COLUMBUS (AP)—It takes a good drought to point up the seriousness of Ohio's pollution problem.

And Ohio had a long drought this year. Many streams dried up, others became mere trickles. Dr. John D. Porterfield, chairman of the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board, says the drought intensified pollution of Ohio waters which "has reached tremendous proportions in recent years." He put it this way:

"Anyone not previously aware of the critical nature of this problem had an opportunity to see the real seriousness of it during the severe drought this fall."

In some areas the stench from streams literally nauseated entire communities. Vapors from some polluted streams discolored the paint on some homes.

"Industrial water supplies were limited by the intensified pollution," said Dr. Porterfield, "farm water supplies were damaged, made unfit for animals, and in some cases definitely harmful to animals."

Municipal water plants managed to make water safe for drinking, but in some cases it wasn't very palatable, the doctor noted. The plants were pushed to close to their last measure of protection in many communities, he said.

The situation was reminiscent of a similar one 20 years ago. Then there were epidemics of intestinal illness traced directly to pollution of water used by some cities.

The drought-intensified pollution of the 1930s sparked the drive that led to adoption of new water pollution control laws in Ohio and in neighboring states.

"A most important point to remember," Dr. Porterfield says, "is that drought years are a warning of the future."

Experts say the use of water in Ohio is increasing faster than the population, largely due to demands of industry. The amount of pollution likewise increases unless larger amounts of wastes to be dumped into streams are adequately treated.

"Obviously, we will be able to have the increased water we will need only by using and re-using the same water again and again, and again," the doctor says.

These are the lessons Dr. Porterfield says Ohio must learn:

1. Past experience shows there's a long period between pollution control plans and actual control.
2. This year's drought shows that when the emergency strikes it is too late.
3. Unless we take steps now, Ohio faces a constant emergency in the future. And "the time now is already very late."

Next: What has been done about pollution control?

Club Members May Invite Students

Circleville Rotarians were reminded Tuesday by Club President Fritz Sieverts they have another opportunity to help bolster international good will and understanding.

As he completed plans for the regular meeting Thursday noon at the Elk's Club, Sieverts said any member or members can if they wish, entertain a foreign student in their homes over the Christmas holidays. Past District Gov. Jim Blair of Delaware has a list of students at Ohio Wesleyan University whose homes are in one of some 20 different countries.

Big Cops Help

DETROIT (AP)—When a railroad crossing barrier—waterlogged by rain and snow—on one of the city's main thoroughfares failed to go up, a police precinct dispatched its four biggest officers. They raised the barrier—by sitting on the counterweighted end of the crossbars.

Ex-Tennis Star Freed By Judge

DALLAS (AP)—Former tennis star Wayne Sabin, 37, went on trial yesterday on driving-while-intoxicated charges. The first witnesses, City Patrolmen M. L. Morgan and F. R. Pettus, were asked to identify the defendant. They didn't.

They pointed to one of his lawyers, Jack Johannes. Johannes and Sabin had traded chairs but not, said Johannes, with any intent to confuse anyone.

County Criminal Court Judge W. B. Brown dismissed the charges against Sabin, a member of the 1937 and 1938 Davis Cup team and now tennis professional at two Dallas clubs.

"I'm sorry it happened," Johannes said. "We had a good defense, which we didn't get to present."

Ohio Youngsters Getting Special Business Training

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If the clerk who waits on you when you're doing your Christmas shopping looks like a high school girl, she probably is.

HERE'S AN UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY FOR THE RIGHT MAN
 New tractors and machinery are constantly being added to our Allis-Chalmers line of farm equipment. We need another salesman to take full advantage of its increasing popularity and help us handle our growing volume of business.

It's a real opportunity for the right man to better himself locally — yet receive the benefit of professional training. The one we select will get a week's sales training by factory experts — and get paid while attending this school.

Check on every item in our line. Compare them in value and price with any other. Find out why Allis-Chalmers equipment is gaining rapidly among farmers.

See us now if you are interested in selling this expanding market.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

 WANT TO SCORE some sure hits on Christmas morning—cater to the hobbies of the men of the family or help them start some fascinating new ones. Stop in and see the collection of articles we have for that purpose. We have model building sets and supplies. Hoover Music Co.

For Children—
 FOR THE YOUNG sophisticates who want something different in jewelry L. M. Butch Co. has a beautiful gold pin with a diamond studded heart—contour earrings gold filled—a ring with 2 cultured pearls flanked by diamonds—bezel watch and just loads of different jewels. For the new baby, start a pearl necklace with a pearl at a time purchase.

CHRISTMAS would not be Christmas to the youngsters if they were not plentifully supplied with candy. We have complete line of Christmas candies—boxed and in bags for holiday parties. See us for school and office party supplies. Paul's—formerly Isaly's Dairy Store.

HERE'S A YOUNG love—a Christmas gift for the young lady of the home—A Bates bedspread for her boudoir. Romance is the name of the pattern which is as romantic as a lace-paper valentine. In fresh pastels with contrasting colored hearts. Draperies to match. Colors—aqua, rose and slate. See these beautiful spreads at Mason Furniture.

A MUSICALLY inclined youngster will be thrilled with a musical instrument for a Christmas gift. We have guitars, violins, ukuleles, saxophones, drums, trumpets, trombones etc.—some in play sizes for the small fry. Encourage the children to have a liking for good music. Hoover Music Co.

BEFORE BUYING toys for the children see the scale model live action steel toys, nationally advertised—trucks, tractors, tour-narockers haulers, road graders, cattle trailers, scrapers, motor express and many others—all scale models of their big brothers, faultlessly engineered. Made of strong heavy gauge steel, baked enamel finish, rubber tired metal wheels—these are gifts that children will love and enjoy for years—Harpster & Yost.

"ROUND-ABOUT" is the name of the Flex-Let watch band that would make a wonderful Christmas gift for any man on your list. It's the only watch band that is contour-engineered to blend with round watches. It has curved links and ends that are especially styled to follow curves of round watches. Enhances the style of any round watch. Rarely needs repair; never a repair charge. Stop in today and complete your Christmas shopping list. L. M. Butch Co.

CHRISTMAS Shopping is a strenuous task—stop in at Isaly's for a sandwich and coffee or a light luncheon.

ONE SURE way to please the woman who likes to entertain is to give her a nest of tables by Mersman, the Costume Jewelry of your home. Especially if her home is one of the new small modern homes, where dining space is limited. These use-them-anywhere-for-everything tables. No home is complete without a nest of tables by Mersman. Her Christmas will be happier if she receives them, Mason Furniture.

Indiana '5' Rated As Top Court Quintet NEW YORK (AP)—Indiana, Kentucky and Duquesne, the big three in the first Associated Press weekly basketball poll, are making the experts look good.

No sooner were they selected by the sports writers on the basis of last week's performances than they went out last night and added new victories to their unbeaten records.

The Hoosiers, in one of their toughest tests so far, defeated previously unbeaten Notre Dame 66-55. Big Don Schlundt was held to nine points but Bob Leonard, a flashy guard, took up the scoring slack with 21.

Kentucky bounced Wake Forest 101-69 with a 36-point last quarter. The Atlantic Coast Conference Demons led by as much as six points in the early going but the Wildcats checked them on four field goals in the second half. Lin Puckett and Phil Grawemeyer, a pair of sophomores, sparked the fourth-quarter rally.

Duquesne coasted over Carnegie Tech 65-42 with the starting five playing together only in the first quarter. Dick Ricketts tallied 15 for the Dukes.

This is how the top ten teams are rated in order: Indiana, Kentucky, Duquesne, Illinois, Louisiana State, Minnesota, Oklahoma A.M., North Carolina State, Fordham and Western Kentucky.

McFarland Quintet Shortenders 42-31 A romping bunch of basketballers representing Carroll's Grill in Columbus beat Circleville's independent McFarland's 42-31 in a Monday night set.

The home team combination of Polinsko and Berry proved too powerful for Morrison and Rhoads, high scorers for the McFarland outfit.

Polinsko tallied 18 points and Berry 15, while Circleville's Morrison and Rhoads got 13 and six, respectively.

HERE'S AN UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY FOR THE RIGHT MAN New tractors and machinery are constantly being added to our Allis-Chalmers line of farm equipment. We need another salesman to take full advantage of its increasing popularity and help us handle our growing volume of business.

Male Beauty Consciousness Changing Nation's Economy

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor
The American male is getting so conscious of his own beauty it's affecting the national economy. The American male waistline has shrunk from two to four inches in the last few years, according to clothing manufacturers, who have revised their standard sizes for men's suits. F. Eugene Ackerman, top executive of one of the country's largest woolen companies, says:

"There's no doubt that today's men are figure-conscious. This is due to several factors, such as the repeated warnings of life insurance companies, and the insistence of large corporations that their executives submit to regular medical checkups. The first thing a doctor does, of course, is cast a cold and pitiless eye on the corporate bay window and put the guy on a diet. 'The most popular subject of conversation at any country club these days is 'how I took off 20 pounds.' It rivals the golf score as a source of male satisfaction, and if you don't run for cover, the gentleman will insist on giving you his diet."

The once standard sizes 48 to 52 in men's suits are finding fewer and fewer customers these days, and in many instances are relegated to shops specializing in out-sizes.

In addition, men are buying more cosmetics. Having regained their boyish figures, they are sprucing up in other ways. Jacqueline Cochran, the well-known aviatrix and cosmetician, bought a men's cosmetics company after she prepared a speech for the Harvard Business School and discovered that men bought 38 per cent of all bottled toiletries.

The boys used to be satisfied with only a little talc and shaving lotion. Today they buy millions of gallons of cologne every year, in addition to such things as hair-dressings, deodorants and creams for skin and scalp care.

Men's beauty salons are booming, with a brisk trade in permanent waves, hair dye and toupees among businessmen, who have decided it's good business to look young.

The ancient Druids believed that the dead atoned for their sins by residing in the bodies of animals.

The Antarctic Continent is known to contain huge deposits of coal and other minerals.

1954 Business To Top 1953, Many Believe

But Majority Ready For Economic Slip In Vital Industries

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Business next year will be better than in 1953. That's far from the general view. But it's the way a sizable number of businessmen are talking today. Some are talking about their particular industry, some about their own firm. A few refer only to the first part of the year, others to the last part. But clearly some lines of business believe they'll march to new heights in the new year.

Many important segments of the economy are prepared for a slip next year. The majority now seems agreed that the 1954 tally for business and industry in general may not equal the 1953 record.

But here is what some—who believe they are exceptions to the rule—are saying:

Take the auto industry. Output sights for the industry as a whole have been lowered. But the makers of both Chevrolets and Fords say they will produce more cars in the next three months than they did in the similar 1953 period, when they were still under various controls.

Suppliers of the auto industry or the motorist are also cheerful. Auto parts replacement business is sure to increase in 1954, says one maker, J. D. Wright, president of Thompson Products Inc. of Cleveland.

Gross volume of business by the 379,000 automotive service establishments in the United States should rise 30 per cent next year, in the opinion of C. A. Benoit, Jr., president of Permatex Chemical Co. of Brooklyn.

The tire replacement business should have a banner year in 1954, says William O'Neil, president of the General Tire Rubber Co.

The Mobile Homes Manufacturers Assn. expects 200,000 more trailers to be sold next year. Manufacturers of road making machinery look for a dip in business the first of the year but expect sales to pick up at the close to a level greater than in 1953.

A glut of gasoline and fuel oil plagues the industry right now. But demand for oil products should go up by five per cent next year, many believe, and help ease the problem.

The coal industry is worried now, too. But the National Coal Assn. believes output in the next three months will top the first quarter of 1953.

Smoker Suffocates
HAMILTON (AP)—Falling asleep while smoking, Cornelius Stewart, 35, suffocated yesterday.

The United States had about 53 million motor vehicles in 1952.

Herodotus says that the ancient Egyptians kneaded their dough with their feet and their clay with their hands.

It is almost impossible to swim in the Dead Sea because arms and legs protrude from the thick, oily water.

81 CHS Boys And Girls Earn Places On Second Honor Roll

A total of 81 Circleville High School boys and girls achieved high scholastic ratings during the second six-week grading period of the 1953-54 school year.

Heading the list of honor roll youngsters during the period were the sophomores, with 32 members of the class represented. Second in number were the freshmen with 23, while seniors were second with 15 and juniors were last with only 11.

A group of 13 youngsters earned special recognition for the grading period by taking home report cards bearing all "A's" in academic subjects.

Sophomores — Jane Glitt, George Kerr, Carolyn Lutz, Anne Risley, June Wilkinson, Mary Jo

Cook, Judy Horine, Walter Sieverts and Mary Wilson.
Juniors — Weta Mae Leist, Gail Dunlap, Martha Ballou, Larry Wing, Annette Glass, Lura Purdin, Joyce Troutman, Beverly Thornton, Elizabeth Musser, Beverly Southward and Don Greenlee.
Seniors — Wilma Davis, Linda Given, Lissa Given, Carroll Leist, Lee Risley, Myrtle Streber, Robert Reber, James Leist, Martha Ann Pile, George Fry, Dave Hoffman, Patsy Huston, Barbara Schumm, George Troutman and Juanita Thomas.

Male Beauty Consciousness Changing Nation's Economy

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

The American male is getting so conscious of his own beauty it's affecting the national economy.

The American male waistline has shrunk from two to four inches in the last few years, according to clothing manufacturers, who have revised their standard sizes for men's suits. F. Eugene Ackerman, top executive of one of the country's largest woolen companies, says:

"There's no doubt that today's men are figure-conscious. This is due to several factors, such as the repeated warnings of life insurance companies, and the insistence of large corporations that their executives submit to regular medical checkups. The first thing a doctor does, of course, is cast a cold and pitiless eye on the corporate bay window and put the guy on a diet. 'The most popular subject of conversation at any country club these days is 'how I took off 20 pounds.' It rivals the golf score as a source of male satisfaction, and if you don't run for cover, the gentleman will insist on giving you his diet."

The once standard sizes 48 to 52 in men's suits are finding fewer and fewer customers these days.

1954 Business To Top 1953, Many Believe

But Majority Ready For Economic Slip In Vital Industries

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Business next year will be better than in 1953. That's the far from the general view. But it's the way a sizable number of businessmen are talking today.

Some are talking about their particular industry, some about their own firm. A few refer only to the first part of the year, others to the last part. But clearly some lines of business believe they'll march to new heights in the new year. Many important segments of the economy are prepared for a slip next year. The majority now seems agreed that the 1954 tally for business and industry in general may not equal the 1953 record.

But here is what some—who believe they are exceptions to the rule—are saying:

Take the auto industry. Output sights for the industry as a whole have been lowered. But the makers of both Chevrolets and Fords say they will produce more cars in the next three months than they did in the similar 1953 period, when they were still under various controls.

Suppliers of the auto industry or the motorist are also cheerful. Auto parts replacement business is sure to increase in 1954, says one maker, J. D. Wright, president of Thompson Products Inc. of Cleveland.

Gross volume of business by the 379,000 automotive service establishments in the United States should rise 30 per cent next year, in the opinion of C. A. Benoit, Jr., president of Permatex Chemical Co. of Brooklyn.

The tire replacement business business should have a banner year in 1954, says William O'Neil, president of the General Tire Rubber Co.

The Mobile Homes Manufacturers Assn. expects 200,000 more trailers to be sold next year. Manufacturers of road making machinery look for a dip in business the first of the year but expect sales to pick up at the close to a level greater than in 1953.

A glut of gasoline and fuel oil plagues the industry right now. But demand for oil products should go up by five per cent next year, many believe, and help ease the problem.

The coal industry is worried now, too. But the National Coal Assn. believes output in the next three months will top the first quarter of 1953.

81 CHS Boys And Girls Earn Places On Second Honor Roll

A total of 81 Circleville High School boys and girls achieved high scholastic ratings during the second six-week grading period of the 1953-54 school year.

Heading the list of honor roll youngsters during the period were the sophomores, with 32 members of the class represented. Second in number were the freshmen with 23, while seniors were second with 15 and juniors were last with only 11.

A group of 13 youngsters earned special recognition for the grading period by taking home report cards bearing all "A's" in academic subjects.

Attaining the goal of all "A's" were Freshmen Ellis Couch and Pat Lutz; Sophomores Jane Glitt, George Kerr, Carolyn Lutz and Anne Risley; Junior Weta Mae Leist; and Seniors Wilma Davis, Linda Given, Lissa Given, Carroll Leist, Lee Risley and Myrtle Streber.

COMPLETE list of honor pupils for the period, identified by classes, is as follows:

Efforts Continue To Gain Against TB In The U.S.

Despite the great progress made against tuberculosis, there are still approximately 400,000 active cases in the United States and about 85,000 newly discovered cases with active or probably active disease were reported last year.

An important aspect of the current situation is the increased proportion of deaths from tuberculosis in late adult life, statisticians report. Not only are older persons now the chief victims of the disease, it is observed, but they also are a major source of its spread.

On the brighter side of the picture, the death rate from the disease established a new minimum of 10.2 per 100,000 for the first 10 months of 1953—a reduction of more than one quarter in the past year alone, and of one half in the past three years.

The decrease in tuberculosis mortality in the general population of the United States has been almost as rapid. Among white females the death rate from the disease is now well below 10 per 100,000.

"This extraordinary record reflects to a degree the use of newly discovered drugs and new surgical techniques, together with bed rest and other standard methods of treatment," statisticians report.

"In part, too, it results from the hospitalization of increased numbers of the tuberculous, and from the earlier discovery of cases through mass X-ray surveys in communities and in industry and through routine X-ray of hospital patients."

According to the statisticians, unremitting efforts are required for further gains in the battle against the disease.

Citizens Urged To Alert Neighbors On Tuesday Toy Tour

Legion Corps All Ready For Citywide Call

Officials Stress Just One-Night Affair This Year In Circleville

Members of an American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps flying squad who will man four big trucks were poised and ready early Tuesday evening to scour all residential sections of Circleville in the one-night annual Toy Tour.

In a last-minute message to Circleville citizens, Corps Commander Don Valentine urged all men and women familiar with the drive for toy contributions to alert their friends and neighbors to be ready and waiting for the white-helmeted callers.

Valentine and James P. Shea, Pickaway county veterans service officer, also repeated another public appeal Tuesday afternoon—that all residents who wish to respond turn on their porch lights.

Shortly before dark Tuesday, volunteer members of Circleville's Hall-Adkins Post No. 134 will assemble at the American Legion hall for final planning and any late instructions.

A LITTLE LATER, from house to house and up one street and down another, the Corps members will make an all-out effort to get all the usable toys necessary to bring happiness to children of needy families in Circleville and Pickaway county.

Both the county and city Welfare departments and other organizations are lending full cooperation to insure against the possibility of any needy family being overlooked. The toys will be distributed the day before Christmas.

Christmas Means Much To Girl, 13

BALTIMORE (AP)—Sara Lou Fox is looking forward this year to her merriest Christmas in three years.

For the first time since her costume was set afire by a candle during a school Christmas pageant, 13-year-old Sara Lou will be home for Christmas.

She spent 2½ years in a Baltimore hospital. New skin was grafted from her waist to her neck. Since last June she has been at Children's Hospital School, learning to walk again with the aid of crutches.

Divorce Problem Is Slated For Vital Hearings In 1954

WASHINGTON (AP)—There is a strong possibility that 1954 might clear the air about one of the nation's most perplexing social problems: Divorce.

There are two reasons:

1. A House committee will take up a bill, passed by the Senate earlier this year, that would require each state to honor a divorce obtained in another state if certain requirements are met.

2. The Supreme Court will be asked to decide whether a person must be a domiciliary of the state in which he secures a divorce.

These two questions are at the very heart of the divorce problem, which has bewildered lawyers and judges ever since the United States came into being.

Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.), author of the bill now before the House, said today that many divorced Americans are confronted with becoming lawbreakers if they get married again.

This, McCarran said, is because a divorce secured in one state may not be honored in another and the parties to the divorce may be accused of bigamy if they remarry. Such a thing has happened.

McCarran's bill says that, when four specific requirements are met a divorce granted legally in one state "must be given full faith and credit in every state as a dissolution of such marriage."

These, he said, are the requirements: (1) The divorce decree must be final; (2) it must be valid in the state in which rendered; (3) it must meet the jurisdictional requirements of the state granting the divorce; and (4) both parties to the divorce must appear personally or be represented by counsel at the court proceedings.

The McCarran bill would "implement" the full faith and credit clause of the Constitution, which says:

"Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the Congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which such acts, records and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof."

Governor Studies Tax On Truckers

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche said yesterday he hopes governors of other states with a weight-distance tax will attend a February meeting on truck tax reciprocity in Atlanta, Ga.

The meeting was called by officials of the National Governors Conference last weekend in Chicago after 10 Southern states agreed to end reciprocal treaties with Ohio because of Ohio's new axle-mile tax.
